LIVING THROUGH PANDEMIC AND THEREAFTER

The impact of COVID-19 pandemic has been massive on all corners of life. During this moment we have experienced and witnessed negativity and positivity. In this regard, negativity brought about by false and misleading news through mass media creating chaos and panic. Human beings are biased toward negativity. On the other hand, we have come across kindness, love, prayers, generosity and humanity overall. Refraining from negativity and creating awareness and positive attitude towards a better tomorrow should be implemented in us.

On a brighter note, we have cherished love and kindness on another level. Our selfless and courageous frontline workers are our unsung heroes. Shining like a ray of light and bringing hope. Behind the scene, individuals who have shown numerous efforts and provided valuable service and support, the genuine philanthropists, the worship team that continuously uplifts our spirits, all working the true meaning of humanity.

I am indeed privileged to be a part of the team. And would like to thank all the unions involved, well-wishers, and individuals in various departments in the LFU Q-Centre at Kevijaü/Thahekhu and wishing the quarantinee's blessed and happy stay.

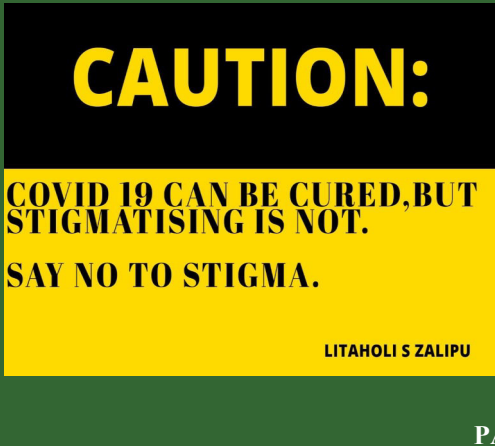

As we trudge along on this journey of COVID-19 that does not show us its expiration date, let us arm ourselves with preparedness, awareness, optimism, gratefulness and less exposure to negativity. Living apart, 'we must stand together'. Let us help the vulnerable, the less privileged and pray for the COVID-19 positive patients. Practice what we preach. Be strong and immovable in the Lord, keeping in mind the bigger picture and brighter vision towards the future.

1 Corinthians 10:12-14

God is faithful and he will not let you be tested beyond your strength. But with the testing he will also provide a way out so that you may be able to endure it.
